Godspeed

Hey Kiddos;

Yesterday was an especially tough day for everyone in the music world. I know so many people who feel that Tom Petty's untimely death was a second punch in the gut after hearing about the carnage in Las Vegas. We are all still holding our breath as victims are identified and folks are marked safe. We pray for those who lost their lives and for their families. We also are praying for those wounded and traumatized by the tragedy. As we bury Tom Petty, who was a hero to many for his lifelong commitment to excellence and his crusade to deliver his music to fans as he wanted to, we are also burying heroes this week who sacrificed their lives to save others in the blink of an eye.

This is such a sad moment for all of us who love music, attend concerts, and festivals, and make our livelihood in support of this most worthy human endeavor. Music lifts us, brings us emotions, lets us share in a communal experience, and most of all, music heals. We should be free to attend concerts in peace. For all of us in the business who are working for the joy that music brings, this is such a perversion. Our community is all in mourning, standing together over the senselessness of this devastating event.

And so on to today's chart. Casey Donahew is number one again for week three. Deryl Dodd and Cody Johnson have the Most Added, Highest Debut, and Greatest Gainer this week. Godspeed all.

Looking forward,
Jessie Scott

Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we've chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles "on the bubble" are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single's previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.
