Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • WES HAYDEN

Wes Hayden got his first guitar and the rest is as they say, history. Playing professionally since the age of sixteen, Wes has kicked his fair share of sawdust around in bars and honkytonks, which has helped mold this Texas native into the recording artist that he is today. With a distinctively traditional, rich country voice and some tough-guy tattoos, Wes has a sound and a style all his own. With three albums under his belt buckle, Wes has been anticipating the release of his self-titled album, "Wes Hayden." This album features the hit single, "There's Always Now" featuring Andy Griggs. Wes has been featured on the ABC hit series "The Bachelorette," won an award on the "Fox Reality Awards 2009" as America's Favorite Bad Boy, and fans saw him vie for love on the ABC spin-off series "The Bachelor Pad." After being in just about every major magazine, and appearing on Extra, Access Hollywood, and The Soup, Wes's popularity has grown tremendously, reaching a new crop of fans and followers. Yet, with all the new press and hype surrounding Wes, he still remains grounded and dedicated to his roots in country music. He has spent the last five years creating music he is truly proud of.
