Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

Dance Time In Texas with DJ Mike (10/29/21)

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • BRANDI BEHLEN

Growing up in Gonzales Texas, BRANDI BEHLEN would travel with her family on the weekends to watch her grandpa play steel guitar at the different Dancehalls, (and in her own words) fall asleep on the tables when the band would break down after the shows. She didn't really get the music bug until High school when her new love would become a guitar. She not only taught herself to play, but she also started to sing along to the songs on the radio as well. In 2019 she would release her first single titled Daddy's Money which would reach #31 on the Texas regional music charts. She would follow that up with Wine in a Coffee Cup and Gypsy which would be her highest debuting single on the charts. Her next release is a change of pace that shows off her talents with a sad country song that tug at your heart strings. Check out the video on Stars Over Texas TV

This is her new single I WISH HE'D BEEN DRINKING WHISKEY
