Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

Dance Time In Texas with DJ Mike (07/09/21)

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • MARSHALL

I am honored to be among the finalists for 2021 Broadcast Personality of the Year for the Texas Country Music Association. You can vote now through August 15 and you do not need to be a member of the Texas Country Music Association to vote. Please click on the link to Vote for your favorite in each category. Thanks for supporting Dance Time in Texas. TEXAS COUNTRY MUSIC AWARDS VOTING FORM.

Country music fans only need to listen to a few lines from singer songwriter MARSHALL before pinpointing his musical influences. The North Carolina native, who found a welcoming new home in Texas, has spent a lifetime admiring the likes of George Strait, Waylon Jennings, and Randy Rogers. Away from music, Marshall can be found reveling in the ways of the Lone Star State. A lifelong barbeque enthusiast, he enjoys combining the basics of the craft he learned in his native North Carolina with the barbeque history that can only be found in Texas. His new single, "Tailspin," is Marshall's first release to Texas country radio. The upbeat song was written during his divorce but is a tip of the hat to how life opens new doors as old ones are closed.
