Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

Dance Time In Texas with DJ Mike (11/12/21)

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • DAVID ADAM BYRNE

David Adam Byrnes left home at the age of 19 and moved to Nashville to deliver his style of country music. Within his first year he signed a publishing deal and found himself writing songs that ended up going to other established Nashville acts. As for David, Nashville pretty much said he was "Too Country for Country Music". It was then he made up his mind to hit the road and get back to his honkytonk roots. On his way to Texas, he heard Cody Johnson on the radio and immediately knew there was a home for him on the Texas Music Scene. He was soon introduced to Trent Willmon who produced Cody, and the two began a songwriting relationship. With Willmon's help David snagged several opportunities to open for Cody Johnson and that's how it all began. In 2018 David made the move to Ft. Worth, where his cowboy hat fit right in.

His lead single Beer Bucket List was released to Texas radio and became his first #1 single. In October 2020, he released his full album Neon Town, which produced 4 consecutive #1 songs. He has now been nominated for the 2021 Male Artist of the Year and Country Album of the year at The Texas Country Music Awards Show.

This is his newest song TOO MUCH TEXAS
