Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • FRANK RAY

FRANK RAY walked away from his steady job as a police officer in Las Cruces, New Mexico to pursue his lifelong dream of becoming a country artist. It all started when he taught himself to play guitar and sing to relax after his patrol was over. He put together a band and started playing the dive bars on the weekends. Before long, they won a battle of the bands, earning an opening slot for Keith Urban who happened to be playing in Ray's hometown. He remembers being on that big stage in front of 10,000 people, when his fellow cops showed up with homemade signs, cheering them on. That is when he knew that the stage was where he wanted to be. Enter Oscar Chavira, a Texas manager, who recognized the spark in the young performer and started his career on the Texas Music scene. In 2018 Frank hit number 1 on the Texas Music Charts with his single Drive and would follow up with another Top 10 single Tequila Mockingbird.

He's back again with his newest release, COUNTRY'D LOOK GOOD ON YOU
