Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

Dance Time In Texas with DJ Mike (04/15/22)

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • JON HOPE

Texas singer-songwriter JON HOPE crafted his Texas Country sound across a million miles from the seat of an 18-wheeler. His love for writing and performing started on the dusty roads of his childhood home in West Texas, and his passion to deliver great, relatable music is unmistakable. He got his start in music at 3 ½ years old when his grandmother wanted him to memorize the 23rd psalm and once he did that she thought if he can do that can he sing? She bought him some Randy Travis tapes and it wasn't long before he was singing every song on that tape. At 4 1/2 they took him to a performance at a music review in Dallas. He did so well they invited him back and wanted him to sing Mamas don't let your babies grow up to be cowboys. In his 4-year-old mind he heard the word baby and thought that was a baby song, so he didn't learn it and never went back. As he got older he became a truck driver, got married and had a baby. It was from the seat of the 18-wheeler that he started to wonder if he could still perform. He started writing on his down time and on the weekends he would start playing in the small dive bars. The more he played the better he got. He still has it as he just won the Male Future Faces Award at the 2022 T3R Awards show. He has some fun new music dropping this month. This is his newest song on the charts CAME TO GET DOWN.
