Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • KATE WATSON

Kate Watson is becoming one of the more popular female artists on the Texas Music scene. With over one million likes on Tik-Tok and a combined ninety thousand followers across all social media platforms, she accredits her fanbase and influence on the one driving force in her life: devotion. As the daughter of Christian recording artist and worship leader, Jesse Watson, Kate learned early on that the combination of prayer and hard work was the winning formula for growing a diverse fanbase that would eventually land her a standing ovation from Lionel Richie at her 2019 American Idol Audition. Kate still works closely with dad at the Lone Star Cowboy Church in Montgomery, Texas which also happens to be the spiritual home of several country recording artists, most notably Cody Johnson, Josh Ward, and Jesse Raub, Jr. It's also where Parker McCollum first heard Kate sing. Country music's newest female to watch, Kate Watson, recently won the Future Faces award as well as being nominated for Female Vocalist of The Year at the 2022 Texas Regional Radio Awards show. Her debut single Red Lipstick and a Cowboy Hat was one of the most requested videos on Stars Over Texas TV.

Her newest single HIGHWAY is already in the Top 40 on the Texas Music charts. As Parker McCollum says, "She's the real deal, I am looking forward to great things from her."
