Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

Dance Time In Texas with DJ Mike (05/25/22)

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • JARET RAY REDDICK

Time to dust off that Stetson hat and spin JARET RAY REDDICK 's brand-new Country album Just Woke Up. Jaret Ray, who calls Prosper Texas home, is best known as the lead vocalist, and guitarist for the 90's rock band Bowling for Soup. He's also the voice of Chuck E Cheese, so moms if you're in a Walmart in the Denton Area and your kid starts yelling Chuck E, it's probably Jaret doing his Walmart run. Country music has always been a big part of Reddick's life, being a proud native of the lone star state. His mother was even a country singer and he's wanted to record this album for a long time. The new album features fun tracks like Way More Country which is a duet with Uncle Kracker that pokes fun at the fact that he sings in a punk rock band, Drunk As It Takes, a song about a relationship that has ended and so it's time to get drunk and his current single on radio now ONE OF THE GOOD ONES which as Jaret says "acknowledges those people in your life that bring out the best in you". For more fun stuff about this exciting new project (which also features Cody Canada) check it out at jaretrayreddick.com
