Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

Dance Time In Texas with DJ Mike (08/19/22)

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • KIN FAUX

Kin Faux is a band of 4 talented musicians on a mission to put “western” back in country music. While they pay tribute to country legends Haggard, Jennings, and Cash, the heavy influence of the band comes from the Texas Music Scene (Randy Rogers, Kevin Fowler, Cody Jinks, and Wade Bowen). Rico, Jake, Ross, and Dan met up in Michigan and formed a band. As they started touring Michigan, Chicago, Pittsburgh, and the rest of the Midwest, Rico made the comment that their style of music was more like Texas music and that they should consider going south. After a few adult beverages, discussions about the Texas Music scene and Taco Tuesday, they loaded up their van and moved to San Antonio.

Two years later that moved paid off as they are now sharing the stage with Kevin Fowler, Aaron Watson, and Randy Rogers (Rico got to play fiddle with Brady Black from RRB), found success on Texas Radio, and named the 2021 Band of the year at the Texas Country Music Awards show & 2022 New Band of the year at the Texas Regional Radio Awards show. Making a return to Dance Time in Texas, this is their new single Grain of Salt.
