Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

Dance Time In Texas with DJ Mike (09/02/22)

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • DONICE MORACE

DONICE MORACE began his musical journey at the age of six when his father bought him his first guitar. By the time he was in high school he was singing in choir, and after seeing George Strait while in college, it became clear to him that music would be his life's calling. The Vidor, TX native grew up listening to Keith Whitley, George Jones, and Conway Twitty, however his biggest influence came from two locals that were setting the country music world on fire. After watching Tracy Byrd and Mark Chesnut on stage he knew he wanted to be like them. He moved to Atlanta, Georgia, where he sang five nights a week at Cowboys Dance Hall opening for national acts like Lonestar, Kenny Chesney, and one of his heroes, Merle Haggard. Five years later he would return to the Texas Music Scene opening for Kevin Fowler, Aaron Watson, and Cody Johnson. In 2017 he released his debut self-titled EP which featured his first top 25 single, "Good Hurt Comin' On," and "WD-40 and Duct Tape," which peaked at number 15 on the Texas Regional Radio Report. In 2019 he released his first full length album "Long Live the Cowboy" unashamedly putting the cowboy back in country music. Which brings us to his newest single. Is there anything more intoxicating than that initial feeling of mutual infatuation? ONE DRINK IN reminds you of that addicting and uncontrollable feeling of great chemistry. The kind that makes you lose all sense of time."
