Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

Dance Time In Texas with DJ Mike (10/21/22)

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • ARIEL HUTCHINS

Born in Abilene Texas, ARIEL HUTCHINS spent her early childhood singing in Church. A family tragedy placed her in the foster care system when she was just 8 years old. The highlight of those years was the gift of a guitar which she received on her eleventh birthday. At 14, Ariel found a forever family and moved to her new home in Cross Plains, Texas and started singing at the high school events. Upon graduation, Ariel formed her own band and began playing throughout the state where she would open for Kevin Fowler, Stoney LaRue, and other Texas artists. Her hard work paid off as she has since had 3 consecutive number 1 hits on Texas Radio with Wine Won't Work, Showing Off (a duet with Sundance Head) and more recently The Cowboy he will be which was inspired by her 5-year-old son who shows off his riding skills in the music video which can be seen on Stars over Texas TV. She was nominated 2021 top female artist by the Texas Country Music Association as well as named best new female vocalist at the 2022 Texas Regional Radio Music Awards show. Her newest single STUCK is a throwback to the late 80's/early 90's country sound that is quickly moving up the music charts and becoming one of the most requested songs in the dancehalls.
