Chart Recurrent Methodology

When does a song move to recurrent on the chart? It is one of the more challenging issues we encountered in creating the CDX TRACtion Texas chart system. Rather than relying on subjective editorial decisions, we’ve chosen to automate this process using the weekly chart data as a marker.

We strive to avoid having singles past their prime create a logjam on the chart, because that stifles upward momentum for up-and-coming singles. But we also try to ensure that singles “on the bubble” are not removed prematurely. As long-time chart watchers know, singles often take a while to establish a solid base among early believers at radio before they truly find their legs. Due to any number of reasons, the path to peak chart position rarely includes straight-line, week-over-week spin and/or chart position growth.

On a monitored airplay chart like CDX TRACtion Texas, the reality is that new singles bounce around a bit spin-wise and position-wise, particularly in the lower half of the chart. Even small spin increases and decreases can be magnified as fairly significant up-or-down chart position moves.

With this in mind, the CDX TRACtion Texas recurrent policy grades each chart position on a curve, using an algorithm that considers the chart position and spin history for that song. Newly serviced singles are allowed 20 weeks to chart before being removed from chart consideration. Once a status change is actively being considered by the algorithm, the cumulative amount of spin loss from the single’s previous peak spin count is the trigger. The allowable spin loss varies as a percentage, depending on the chart position.

In addition to making sure that only singles with significant downward movement become recurrent, this methodology also benefits slow-developing singles in several ways. For instance, the allowable spin loss (as a percentage) is very generous at the lower reaches of the chart to accommodate the lower spin counts. Additionally, if a single is at risk of being moved to recurrent status with two consecutive weeks of minor spin loss, it can still return to positive spin growth the following week, which will reset the clock.

THIS WEEK'S FEATURED ARTIST • WAR HIPPIES

Scott Brown from the Scooter Brown Band had already amassed over five million streams on various platforms, as well as debuted on the Grand Ole Opry. Donnie Reis, a classically trained violinist, specialized in music production. When this unstoppable duo decided to get together and collaborate, The War Hippies were born and something magical happened. Both Scott and Donnie are combat veterans. Donnie Reis is a decorated U.S. Army Combat Veteran who gave up a full music scholarship to enlist in the U.S. Army after the 9/11 attack on America and Scott Brown is a decorated U.S. Marine Combat Veteran who served in Iraq in 2003 as a Scout with the First Light Armored Recon Battalion. Today when they are not playing music, both work with organizations to assist Vets in need. Donnie serves on the Nashville Task Force of the Special Operators Transition Foundation a nonprofit that assists Special Forces Operation Veterans, while Scott is the co-founder of Base Camp 40 – Warriors in the Wild, a nonprofit that offers veterans outdoor adventures and works with numerous organizations to promote awareness in the veteran's community along with human trafficking. Their newest project titled The Hang Man, can be seen on Stars Over Texas TV. This dynamic duo struck a chord with the release of their 1st single when the music video took the #1 spot on the Country Network's Top 40 Chart. This week's featured song is Killin' It
